RR Parking Lot To Be Resurfaced

The Pennsylvania Railroad parking lot at Levittown at last will be resurfaced.

This news came late yesterday from a representative of South-eastern Pennsylvania Transportation Compact, which will inaugurate the new low-rate, faster and more frequent commuting service on the PRR into Philadelphia Dec. 3.

Fred Tumminia of SEAPAC revealed that contracts to bind and seal the parking lot at the foot of the Levittown Parkway will be let on Monday under the stipulation that work is to be started the following day and to be finished by Monday, Dec. 3, in time for "Operation Levittown."

New Lights
Tumminia, working from a desk in the office of Vincent Hartley, Bristol Township manager, also said that new, high-power lights will be installed at the station by that date and that additional lights will be put up as soon as possible.

Tumminia, Hartley and Joseph Napoli, Tullytown Borough councilman worked together to assure the first of the light standards, which were to be installed by Tullytown before Christmas. They received assurance from the Philadelphia Electric Co. that the Good Evening!

Thanksgiving Day, 1962.

Okay, count your blessings and be thankful.

You'll be more thankful if you don't try to make like a stuffed turkey before day is done. Although, at that, we don't know of a better time of the year to do the making.

Delightful weather. In Miami, San Francisco, Atlanta and Denver, that is. Here, phooey.

We guess the sun will shine again; it had better for right at the moment the doggone precipitation is dripping right down through the office roof.

You ever try writing paragraphs like this while listening to a drip? Maddening.

Anyhow, says the man, fair and milder skies tomorrow and for the weekend and maybe just for once he'll accidentally be right.

Tomorrow? Well sir, that's when the Christmas season officially opens all over the land.

In Levittown, the big Santa parade on the mall and don't think for a minute we won't be joining with a million kids to see the happy sights.

We're gaining on it, by the way, in case you're interested. Winter makes its debut December 22 at 3:15 a.m. Hey, that's just a month from today.

Also, in case you're interested, the Phillies start spring training at Clearwater February 23.

It's becoming more and more difficult to seasonalize sports. Football season hardly done, basketball season yet to come, how still mudding it at Garden State, and here we go with the sports pages full of baseball already.

Antique: An object which has made a round trip to the attic.

It's a small world. But why does it cost so much?

Happy Thanksgiving!

Quiet Along Border

NEW DELHI (UPI) — The India-Red China border war appeared to be temporarily at an end today, but it was not clear whether all fighting had ceased.

Red China announced that its troops had "ceased fire" on all fronts.

Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru announced to Parliament this morning that "so far as we know, there is an effective cease-fire." He added that "there has been no firing since last night—that is on the Chinese side."

The Indian Defense Ministry confirmed later in the day that the cease-fire lull continued all along the front. But a spokesman refused to clarify a vaguely worded communique which left open the possibility the Indians still were fighting.

Rejection Seems Likely

He simply referred newsmen to Nehru's somewhat vague statement to Parliament. However, Nehru made no direct comment on whether India has accepted the Communist Chinese proposal for a cease-fire and negotiations. But he released a tough reply rejecting an earlier Peking bid for talks, and observers felt its tone committed India to an eventual rejection of the current cease-fire offer.

The Defense Ministry spokesman said he could neither confirm nor deny whether there was any shooting from the Indian side.

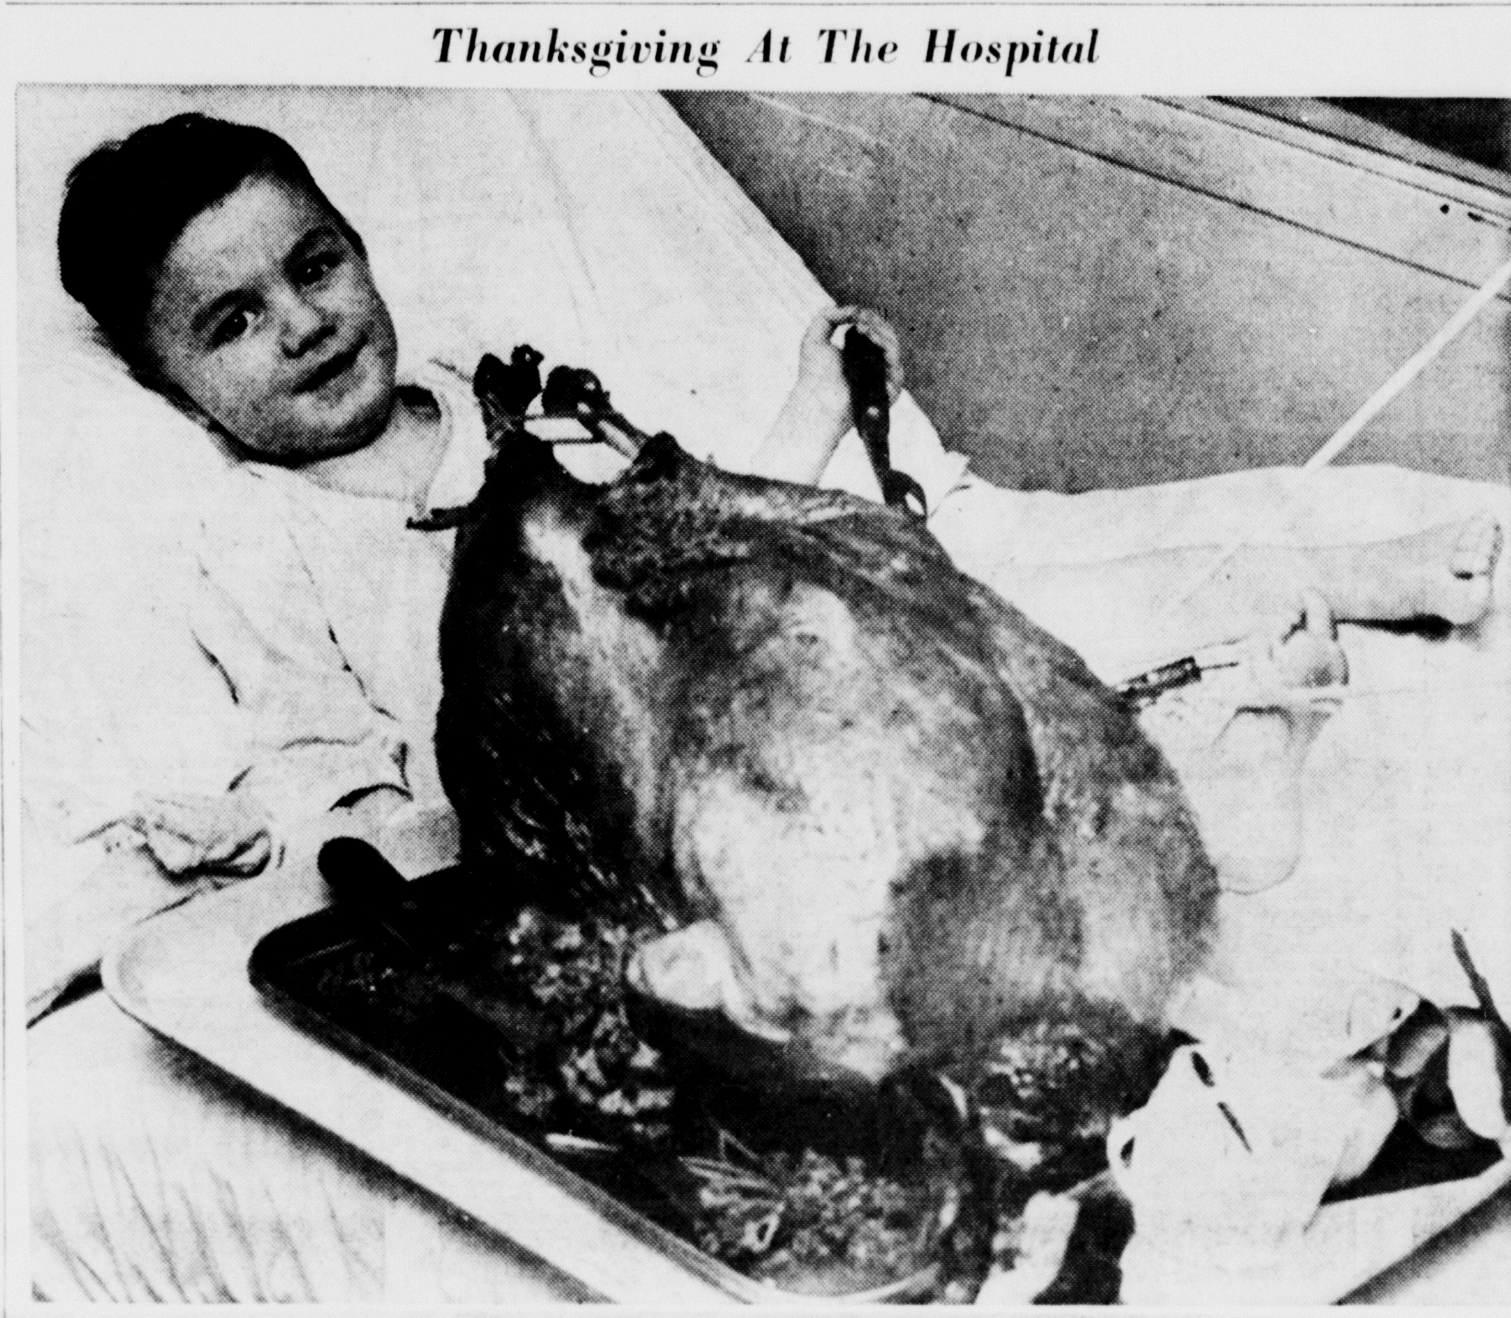

He said he could not add to the terse government statement which said in part that "our troops continue to be in contact with the enemy."

"You can draw your own conclusions," he said.

"In the North East Frontier Agency (NEFA) no report to firing by the Chinese aggressors has been received since midnight," the communique said. "Some miles south of Bomdila in the Kameng division our troops continue to be in contact with the enemy."

"In the Lohit division, the main

A Happy Thanksgiving 10 Bristol Twp. Policemen Get $190 Yearly Pay Hikes

By SCOOP LEWIS
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Ten Bristol Township policemen and their families today are enjoying perhaps their happiest Thanksgiving.

The 10 police officers are especially thankful for the pay raises voted them last night by the township commissioners. The patrolmen received $190 annual increases while the township's newest policeman, James P. Dunn, was granted an automatic adjustment.

Patrolmen John J. Lowrie, Frank Moffett, John Schwab, Norman Stoner and Woodrow D. Wilson were boosted in salary from $5,115 annually to $5,305, effective Nov. 19.

Others Boosted

Increased from $4,735 to $4,925, also effective Nov. 19, were Richard Boyle, Charles Glogowski, Bernard J. Scott, Gerald Sternrich and Kenneth Underdown.

Dunn's pay was adjusted from $4,125 to $4,315, effective as of Nov. 7, at which time the rookie officer had completed his probationary period.

While announcing the pay increases, the board of commissioners last night deferred naming six new men to the township police force. The 10-man board is expected to make the appointments next Wednesday at a special meeting. Action was postponed last night due to the fact that most of the commissioners hadn't had sufficient time to consider the results of the Civil Service examinations of the 25 applicants.

The commissioners also approved appointment of Theodore Wizek of 139 Mill Drive, Mill Creek, Falls, Levittown, as a new radio dispatcher, effective as of Nov. 19.

Raymond Wall, president of the Croydon Acres Civic Association, presented the commissioners a petition containing the names of some 80 families objecting to their being included in the township's $7 million sewer project.

Wall, speaking at last night's meeting held in Benjamin Franklin Junior High School, said he felt there was a "middle-of-the-road solution which has not been

Ruling Soon On Alimenti Indictment

The Bucks County Court will rule Monday on a motion to quash an indictment against Louis A. Alimenti on extortion and conspiracy charges.

The motion was filed in Bucks County Court yesterday by Norman Nathan, attorney for Alimenti, who is president of the Bristol Township School Board.

Nathan's appeal to throw out the indictment alleges that the charges against Alimenti are vague and indefinite and do not tell the nature of the charges against the defendant.

Trial Monday

Both Alimenti and the board vice president, Nicholas DeMara, are scheduled to go on trial Monday in Bucks County Criminal Court. They were indicted by the Bucks County Grand Jury last Friday on charges of attempting to sell promotions to two teachers.

The court did not rule yesterday on Nathan's motion to quash the indictment.

The case will go to the judge who will try Alimenti and DeMara on Monday. The judge has not yet been named.

Had the court signed Nathan's motion yesterday, Monday's trial would have been postponed and the case would have been scheduled for Argument Court.

Arrive Today

During the early afternoon, the family plane, the twin-engine Caroline, was bringing Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy, his wife, Ethel, and their seven children from Washington, along with R. Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps, and his wife, Eunice, with their three children.

Already on hand was the President's youngest brother and new U.S. senator from Massachusetts, Edward, his wife, Joan, and their two small ones; plus the Stephen Smiths and their two, Mrs. Smith is the President's sister, Jean.

K Nixes Combat Orders

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The mighty war machines of the United States and Russia went back to their normal cold war duties today.

With the easing of tension over Cuba, the armed forces of both nations relaxed the emergency conditions in force since Oct. 22.

Russian Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev cancelled Wednesday the emergency "combat readiness" orders he sent out at the height of the crisis and pulled his submarines out of the Caribbean.

The United States, at the same time, announced:

—Recall of the 183 warships that ringed Cuba for four weeks.

—The Strategic Air Command was returned to the conditions "held prior to the Cuban emergency," with fewer bombers on 15-minute alert.

—About 31,000 men—reservists mobilized for the crisis and servicemen held beyond their discharge date—will be sent home.

Expresses Gratitude

In a special Thanksgiving message, President Kennedy expressed the nation's gratitude to the men and women of the armed forces whose "immediate readiness to face any danger have been most evident during the past several weeks."

Despite the easing of the crisis, officials continued to warn that the difficulties which once threatened nuclear war were still not entirely resolved.

There were plenty of signs of caution. With Soviet bombers still in Cuba and their removal scheduled to take 30 days, the Pentagon said air defense forces in the southeastern United States will remain on a full alert status.

The last force to be relaxed was the Strategic Air Command, and even that order means that half of the command's approximately 1,500 bombers are still on 15-minute ground alert, with at least 30 airborne at all times.

But during the crisis, the command had 90 per cent of the bombers—about 1,200 of them—on ground alert and there was substantial increase in the airborne alert.

Return To Bases

A Pentagon spokesman also said North American Air Defense Command fighters were returning to their bases from emergency dispersal points they were assigned during the emergency.

With the Russians also releasing reserves, the Defense Department said 14,200 Air Force reservists called up at the beginning of the crisis will be released beginning Friday.

Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara also authorized quick release of 17,000 sailors and Marines held over beyond their discharge dates, and the Navy reinstated an order allowing early release of 4,000 men whose terms end during the Christmas season.

L. Bucks Gives Thanks For Wide Range Of Blessings

A six-year-old Cornwells Heights boy is "thankful for myself," a Levittown civic leader is thankful "for my spiritual freedom, my family and friends," and a Langhorne farmer is thankful for being an American.

These are a parceling of silent thoughts of thanksgiving which will accompany residents of Lower Bucks County when they sit at a table adorned with turkey and all the trimmings today, in observance of the Thanksgiving Holiday.

Tribute To Area

In a tribute to the Lower Bucks area, Mrs. Margaret Connor, president of the Levittown Civic Association, said: "A resounding note of thanksgiving is in order for the thriving, and active community. For we are in an area rich in communication exchange, individuality and creativeness."

Joseph O. Canby, Greenwood Farms, Langhorne, a Middletown supervisor, said the first thing people should be thankful for is being American.

"We might grouse once in awhile, but everybody feels the same — that we have so many blessings. We have all the basic things. Being a farmer, I'm very cognizant of our food surpluses. Sometimes, when you hear people from underprivileged countries speak, it brings tears to your eyes.

Personal Level

"On a personal level, Mrs. Canby and I are happy to be able to do things day to day and take part in so many activities."

Besides being thankful for himself, Steven Freides, a second grade student at Samuel K. Faust

Elementary School, Bensalem Township, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Freides, 2601 Castle Drive, Cornwells Heights, is thankful for "food and clothes, churches, schools, parents — and the family car."

Steven's classmate, six-year-old Ruth Ittershagen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ittershagen, 2884 Crafton Drive, Nottingham, is thankful for "my health, clothes, for home, for school, parents, brothers and sisters, other children and libraries."

Born Of Gratitude

Captain Bette M. Davies, commanding officer, Salvation Army, Bristol, explained Thanksgiving Day as being born "of man's gratitude toward the 'Giver of every good and perfect gift.'"

"In light of this, to list all the things for which I am thankful would be an impossibility. Primarily, I am thankful for all of the spiritual and eternal blessings which are mine through Christ the Lord."

"This, in turn, brings me to a heartfelt thankfulness for peace, companionship of loved ones and friends, and the opportunity of helping others who are experiencing discouraging times and destitute condition."

"As I observe this national day of Thanksgiving, I do not direct my thanks to a thing, nor a law, nor to luck, but I thank a Person — God!"

Big Dinner

Pretty Beth Steiner, 6, a first-grade pupil at Walt Disney Elementary School, and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Steiner, 35 Stonybrook Drive, Levittown, has an eye for the epicurean delight.

"I am thankful for the big dinner we're going to have Thanksgiving," she said, smacking her lips, and as an afterthought she added, "but I'm most thankful for everything we have, all our money and everything."

Kevin Knauss, 6, a classmate of Beth's, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Knauss, 11 Lavender Lane, Lakeside, Levittown, believes in sharing.

"I am thankful for being able to share," Kevin said benevolently. "I am thankful I can share my house with people who don't have enough money, and I am thankful to share other things."

Government Principles

Patricia Wandling, 15 Gate Lane, Greenbrook, Levittown, executive secretary of the Young Americans for Freedom, said: "I am thankful for the principles of constitutional government on which this nation was founded and for the present-day conservative philosophy for reaffirming these fundamentals."

"I am thankful for the preservation of American freedom and justice and the privilege of working hard to preserve our God-given liberties so that my children may also enjoy them. I am thankful for the freedom to choose between conflicting ideologies and most of all for the principles which help me to recognize the difference."

"For these things, I thank God."

Group of Things

Robert Stover, public relations manager at Danherst Corp., Fairless Hills, said that it is difficult to pinpoint any one thing for which he is thankful.

"It's really a group of things,"

Bob said. "First of all, the good health of my family and the happiness which we were able to have this year, perhaps even more important, I am thankful we were all lucky enough to be able to live in a free country and to be able to celebrate this fine day, without being hypocritical."

Seven-year-old Jane Hartsfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Hartsfield, 9 Arborlea Ave., Morrisville, and a second grader at Lower Makefield Elementary School, is "thankful for everything."

Jeffrey Vansickle, 7, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vansickle, 1902 Crescent Boulevard, Yardley, a classmate of Jane's, is thankful for "my mother and father, my teacher and the school, my house and my grandmother and grandfather."

explored." He asked the commissioners to carefully consider all facets of the program.

May Double

Wall said residents were angered over the fact that their sewer rates "may double" for some homeowners in Croydon Acres, whose sewerage facilities are presently handled by the Falls Township Authority.

The commissioners said they would take the petitions under advisement. Last month the commissioners attended a Croydon Acres Civic Association meeting, at which time residents were told that their sewer costs could not be accurately determined until the township finds out how much money will come from the federal government. The township has applied for a $3 million grant under the Accelerated Public Works Act.

Shows Pictures

Mrs. Agnes Stewart, representing Club Capri on Emile Road, Levittown, appeared before the commissioners protesting the township's having to comply with a township curbing ordinance. She presented pictures showing where an embankment and logs had been erected in front of the establishment. The commissioners, however, told her the club would have to put in concrete curbing to comply with the ordinance.

In a letter received from the Bureau of Public Roads, U.S. Department of Commerce, the commissioners received little satisfaction as to where the Delaware Expressway would continue through Lower Bucks. The expressway is presently dead-ended at Route 413, near the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

J. L. Stinson, division engineer of the bureau, wrote the board that as to date "a final location has not been established for the Delaware Expressway, Interstate Route 95, between the section of the expressway south of Route 413 and the Pennsylvania-New Jersey state line."

Alternates Considered

"Various alternates are being considered," the letter continued, "including Scudder Falls and a location across the present Morrisville-Trenton toll bridge, but as yet no formal decision has been reached between Pennsylvania and New Jersey and the Bureau of Public Roads."

"We suggest you continue to contact the highway department periodically for any new developments."

The commissioners, who last month had sought to gain tax revenue from the Burlington-Bristol Bridge for the part of the bridge they feel is in Bristol Township, received a negative reply from the bridge commission. The bridge commission wrote the board that none of its property is in the Commonwealth.

Protest Conditions

A group of Croydon residents, protesting unsanitary conditions resulting from a dump near Main St., were assured by Commissioner Joseph Bellerby that the matter will be cleared up.

Bellerby, Solicitor William Carlin and the residents met with the operators of the dump, Matthew Hornberger and Walter Thomas, in executive session last night. The operators were given 30 days to "put the 37-acre landfill in shape," Bellerby said. "I fully concur with the residents' complaints," he declared.

Residents had complained that the operators are not covering the trash and debris and that dumping had taken place during early-morning hours.

Bellerby and Larry Cerasoli, both Croydon commissioners, asked the board to look into "deplorable drainage conditions" which exist in the second and fourth wards following heavy rains. Cerasoli particularly noted Sheldon Ave., which he said is "in constant water."

In other action last night, the commissioners accepted the resignation of Walter W. Pitzenka from the township shade tree commission, set up two meetings next Wednesday and Thursday nights with planning consultants to discuss the township's comprehensive plan; delegated Solicitor Carlin to attend a tax assessment appeal hearing on 300 acres of Danherst Corporation property in Fairless Hills, and awarded contracts for the purchase of tires and tubes from Tire City and General Tires.

Township Manager Vincent H. Hartley announced that the Regional Cooperation Council will meet next Monday at 8 p.m. in the cafeteria of Benjamin Franklin Junior High School with Bristol Township host for the meeting.

Walker Ruled Mentally OK For Trial

OXFORD, Miss. (UPI)—Former Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker has been ruled mentally able to stand trial on charges of rebellion, insurrection and seditious conspiracy in connection with rioting at the University of Mississippi.

The ruling Wednesday by Federal Judge Claude Clayton ended a two-day hearing on the mental competence of the 53-year-old ex-war hero, who claims he is the victim of federal "harassment."

Clayton said that from a layman's standpoint, Walker seemed normal on the basis of his testimony. But the judge made his ruling on the strength of a psychiatric report which said the Texan was "functioning currently at the superior level."

Walker was arrested here morning after rioting touched off by the admission of Negro student James H. Meredith to "Ole Miss." Two men were killed and hundreds injured in the 14 hours of fighting.

Chief U.S. Marshal James McShane surrendered Wednesday on a warrant, issued by the Lafayette County grand jury, charging him with "inciting" the rioting. McShane, who gave the orders for deputy marshals to fire tear gas at the rioters, later was released on a writ of habeas corpus pending a hearing around the first of the year.

Meredith left the campus Wednesday afternoon for the Thanksgiving holidays. He apparently went to Memphis where he usually spends his off-campus weekends.

Clayton, a brigadier general who commands the Mississippi-Alabama National Guard division, praised Walker's military record and said he had "the greatest respect for Walker for the outstanding service in which he followed the flag wherever duty called."

DeGaulle Marks 72nd Birthday

PARIS (UPI)—President Charles de Gaulle marked his 72nd birthday today, quietly confident his political followers will smash the Communists and emerge as France's leading party in Sunday's second round of national elections.

No birthday celebration was planned, because De Gaulle does not like them. Staff members were told it was to be a day like any other day, with business as usual.

200 Flee From 500-lb. Lioness

BOSTON (UPI)—Two hundred spectators, many of them children, fled in terror Wednesday night when a 500 pound lioness named Eloise escaped from her trainer and ran wild at the Elks circus here.

No one was seriously injured though several persons stumbled and fell in the rush for the door. The lioness was caged 20 minutes later after an elephant had flattened her with its trunk.

Thanksgiving At Home For LBC Reservists

Scores of Lower Bucks County Air Force Reservists were enjoying their Thanksgiving dinner at home today — less than 24 hours after the Defense Department authorized their release from active duty.

Members of three troop carrier wings at the Willow Grove Naval Air Station and an aerial port squadron at McGuire Air Force Base, N.J., were among the 14,214 Air Force Reservists ordered to active duty on Oct. 28 during the Cuban crisis. Yesterday, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announced that they will be released within the next week.

At Willow Grove, officials today didn't know exactly when members of the 512th Troop Carrier Squadron would be released. One spokesman said "I understand they're going to start processing tomorrow."

Good News For Navy

McNamara also authorized the Navy to cancel extension of duty

In Morrisville Shopping Center Appeals Assessment

By BEN McELVEEN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The Morrisville Shopping Center has appealed its 1962 and 1963 school tax assessments for approximately $300,000 each year, it was revealed last night at a Morrisville School Board meeting.

At the Summerseat building, the school board directed its solicitor, William E. Heffner, to sit in on a hearing on the appeal at 1 p.m. Monday before the County Board of Assessment and Revision of Taxes in Doylestown.

Heffner explained the crux of the appeal is that the shopping center seeks to reduce its assessment, claiming that the firm appointed by Bucks County to appraise it failed to allow deductions for salaries and only appraised its real estate value. He said the law allows such salary deductions.

Question Involved

Questioned about this after the meeting, Heffner said "the issue involved is — does the income of the shopping center warrant a change as determined by the appraisal figure by the county appraising firm?"

He also said the exact assessment figure for 1963 will not be determined until the hearing. Records were cited showing that the center's appeal last year was for a $315,600 assessment. The figure would be roughly the same this year, he said.

The amount of tax the center must pay on this figure for last year comes to $19,567, records showed.

A letter from L. John Hutton, chairman of the board of assessment, was read, and it requested the board to send a representative to the appeal hearing.

Representative Asked

"In as much as the board of assessment will attempt to arrive at a 1963 appraisal figure," the letter said, "and due to the fact that this appeal is also pending for past years, we thought it might be advisable for you to have a representative or your solicitor attend this meeting."

Heffner commented, "The issues here are basically the same as the recent one for the Levittown Shopping Center." He added that the school board would have to stand by the figure as compiled by the firm, Cole, Lauer and Trumble.

In other action, Dr. Paul Phillips, superintendent, announced that Dr. George Raab, Bucks County superintendent, had notified him that a psychologist had been approved for use by Morrisville Schools.

He is Dr. Albert J. Kaplan, whom Dr. Phillips said had at some time previously worked for the local school.

Testing Expert

Dr. Phillips pointed out that Morrisville still lacks a psychologist — or testing expert — since the resignation early this fall of Miss Francis Wilma, who went to Neshaminy Schools.

In still other action, the school board awarded a contract to Norman Stationery Co. of Bristol for an Olivetti calculator to replace one stolen, along with other school equipment, several months ago from Summerseat. The bid was not the low bid, but was for $510.

Dr. Phillips recommended this machine. Penn Jersey Business Machines bid $505 and Pryor Typewriter Co., Morrisville, bid $510.

Typewriter Bids

Three bids by these same firms were also made on a new typewriter, but Dr. Phillips requested the board postpone awarding the bid until he looked into the bids.

After the meeting, he explained he felt there might have been a mistake in the prices quoted for the electric typewriter and indicated he planned to check with the three bidders to be certain about their figures.

The school board awarded the only bid for two sound movie projectors to Garrett Buchanan Co. The firm bid $1,020 for the two machines.

The school board decided to invest $100,000 for three months in bonds with the Morrisville Bank, in order to gain the interest in that time.

Meeting Dec. 3

It also approved the holding of a special board meeting on Dec. 3 to elect new officers for the coming year.

A check for $73,146 was accepted from the Pennsylvania Department of Public Instruction for the first semi-annual payment for the third class, school district for 1962.

The school board also approved a plan whereby a basketball recreation program will be offered students in grades 5-6-7-8 on Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon from Dec. 15 to March 2.

James Kelbaugh and Richard Lee will be paid $2.50 per hour for their services as supervisors for the program, which was successfully tested last year, Dr. Phillips said.

Authority Gets $60,000 Sewer Grant

The Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority was informed today by the Washington Office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Public Health Service, that the application filed for additions to the Levittown, sewage treatment plant has been approved for a grant under the Accelerated Public Works Act in the amount of $60,000, representing one-half of the cost of a sludge flotation system. The Authority share of funds required for these improvements has been set aside for this purpose.

The sludge flotation system will aid in improving the existing sewage treatment process and enable the treatment of cesspool and septic tank wastes now disposed of in open fields in our area. Further benefits derived from this project include:

Substantial increase in sludge digestion capacity.

Removal of grit now detrimental to plant operation.

Increase in the number of home garbage disposal units connected to the authority's sewerage system, heretofore limited to 2,500.

Control of odors emanating from sewage sludge periodically removed and now causing complaints from nearby homeowners.

Other benefits and advantages to plant operation will be derived from this project, the authority stated.

First Expansion Step

The Pennsylvania Sanitary Disposal Association, as well as the Bucks County Department of Health, have been interested in facilities of the type included in this project which will provide for treatment of cesspool and septic tank wastes and eliminate present undesirable disposal of these wastes throughout the area.

The facilities included under this project will be the first step in the authority's overall expansion program designed to meet future needs in the area.

Authority Gets Sewer Funds

The Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority has received $42,732.99 from the state, pursuant to Act No. 339, of August 20, 1953, and Act No. 11-A of March 7, 1962, which provide for payment of grants to municipalities and authorities who have expended money to acquire or construct sewage treatment works.

New rates for "Operation Levittown," expected to be one-third or more lower than present commuting rates, will be announced next week.

SEAPAC, which is using a federal loan for financing as well as funds provided by both counties, has as Bucks County's representatives Franklin P. Wood, chairman of the county planning commission, and Samuel Gray, Bucks County solicitor.

He's Ready For The Enemy

VIENNA (UPI)—Guards at a Vienna mental hospital, suspicious of patient Heinrich Madl's claims that "any enemy attack on my room will be met by heavy fire from all sides," entered his room Wednesday and found five machine guns, 36 rifles, 61 pistols and 5,000 bullets.

There was no immediate explanation of how they got there.

body of our troops from the Wangong sector are holding positions in the vicinity of Hayuliang.

"No firing has been reported since midnight from the Chushul area in Ladakh."

The spokesman said the point of contact with the Chinese is above the foothills station where the state of Assam borders on the NEFA.

At a briefing Wednesday, the Defense Ministry spokesman had said Hayuliang was 80 miles down the Lohit River in a south-westerly direction from the Chinese-captured Wangong airstrip.

The spokesman said "I have no information on that" when asked about the fate of the remnants of the Fourth Indian Division which was reported cut off by the Chinese Sunday north of Bomdila.

Consider Red Proposal

When pressed to say whether the Indians were honoring the cease fire, he said: "All I can say about that is that China's proposals have been communicated to us and they are under consideration."

Meanwhile, a Foreign Office spokesman said India is "securing one squadron of C130 Hercules transport planes on lease from the United States to deal with our urgent transport requirements."

The spokesman emphasized that "These planes are not combat planes and will serve as civilian transport."

"The planes will be manned by American crews but will be under the control of the Indian government," he said, noting that one squadron "is 20 planes."

He Remembers — But Too Late

Two Philadelphia men arrived at a Trenton — Morrisville Toll Bridge booth yesterday afternoon — without any gas in the car they were driving and without 15 cents to pay the toll.

A toll collector called state police. Trooper Mike Metroka responded and discovered the car had been stolen in Philadelphia on Tuesday.

They told Metroka they were returning from New York and didn't have any money — for the gas or toll.

The men, Nathaniel Arnold Giddings, 23, and Günslee John Green, 25, were taken to state police headquarters for questioning.

Giddings could have paid the toll. He had a $5 bill in his pocket he had forgotten about.

Both men were released to Philadelphia police.

2 Drivers Hurt In Falls Crash

Two men were injured in a two-car collision at 8:15 last night on Route 1 near the Log Inn Restaurant, Falls Township.

They were George E. Arnold, 47, 338 Dorrance St., Bristol, who was admitted to Mercer Hospital, Trenton, with neck injuries. Driver of the other vehicle, Rudolph Then, 35, Brooklyn, required 10 stitches in the forehead.

Falls Township Officer Elliott Bainbridge said Then's car ran into Arnold's vehicle as it was turning off the road.

Both men were taken to Mercer Hospital by the Delaware Valley Rescue Squad.

Santa's Mailbox Opens Today

Santa's mailbox at the Courier-Times officially opens today for all boys and girls who want to write to Santa Claus. Although Santa's headquarters are at the North Pole, letters addressed to Santa Claus at the Courier-Times, Route 13, Levittown, Pa., will be forwarded directly to the North Pole as soon as received.

Each day the Courier-Times will publish the names of all boys and girls who have written to Santa.
